City Year

Parent Organization Name	City Year, Inc.
Parent Headquarters Location	Boston, MA
Parent Organization Mission	Please see "AmeriCorps Program Focus/Mission".
AmeriCorps Program Year of Establishment	1994 (AmeriCorps demonstration model in 1993)
AmeriCorps Grant Type	<input type="checkbox"/> National Direct <input type="checkbox"/> Education Award <input type="checkbox"/> Professional Corps <input type="checkbox"/> Indian Tribe <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> State <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> VISTA <input type="checkbox"/> NCCC
AmeriCorps Program Focus/Mission	City Year unites diverse young leaders for a year of full-time service, giving them the skills and opportunities to change the world. They make a difference in the lives of children and transform schools and neighborhoods across the United States. City Year leverages their talent and energy as tutors, mentors, and role models to help students stay on track -and get back on track - to graduate.
Primary AmeriCorps Program Activities	City Year recruits young people ages 17 to 24 from all backgrounds to serve in teams from August – June, benefiting low-income, primarily urban areas. Using a "Whole School, Whole Child" strategy, teams partner with K-12 schools to provide classroom support for struggling students and a full-time, reliable and recognizable school resource. As tutors, mentors and role models, members' typical activities include academic assistance, attendance monitoring and incentives, positive behavior support, after-school programming, and in-school programs and activities such as assemblies and celebrations that improve the overall school environment. Members begin their service before the first bell rings and stay until the last child leaves. Members also run a 6-month community service program for 6-12 th grade students, and recruit and organize volunteers of all ages in projects to improve schools and neighborhoods where they serve. Throughout their year of service opportunities and training, members learn teamwork, gain leadership experience and develop professional skills.

Examples of Effective Partnerships	Service Partnerships: City Year collaborates with Communities in Schools and Talent Development on a drop-out prevention strategy called Diplomas Now . Each partner organization contributes core services designed to provide the right resources to the right students at the right time in order keep them on the path to high school graduation. For example, Talent Development provides comprehensive whole-school reform models for schools facing serious problems with student attendance, discipline,

	achievement scores, and drop-out rates. City Year 's AmeriCorps members deliver the Whole School, Whole Child program contributing whole-school enrichment activities and small group or individual student support. Communities In Schools provides site-based staff members with social work expertise, who work with targeted students and families to facilitate intensive interventions and leverage community and school resources to keep students in school. Sustainability: City Year partners with corporations through our National Leadership Sponsor program. Corporations are engaged in service days with members in the communities where they do business, host career days for members, serve on local site boards and are represented on our Board of Trustees. NLS sponsors provide funding and some additionally provide in-kind support relevant to their area of business such as airtime for public service announcements, uniforms, mobile telephones, etc. Current National Leadership Sponsors are: ARAMARK, Bank of America, Cisco Foundation, Comcast, CSX, Pepsi, The Timberland Company, T-Mobile, and Deloitte.

Because 50% of drop-outs come from 12% (2,000) of the nation's high schools, City Year is particularly interested in serving urban areas with high schools (and feeder schools) with high drop-out rates.

Role of Parent in Administration of Program	ORI uses a centralized management system that is based out of our corporate headquarters located in New Orleans. All training, policy and procedural guidance are disseminated from the headquarters. Highly skilled program managers add capacity to the current staff structure to ensure adequate systems monitoring and quality assurance of this multi-state initiative. Across states, program monitoring is conducted using standard protocols and instruments such as policy and procedural manuals, webinars, teleconferencing, message boards, email communications and on-site monitoring. Additionally, fiscal oversight across states is achieved through our pre-existing organizational protocols used for decentralized site management--requisitions and approvals with checks disbursed from the central management office and monthly cost center reporting. Regular monthly reconciliations take place along with random internal audits, scheduled by the internal auditor to help maintain proper fiscal oversight and compliance with financial processes. Regarding programming, all program staff members are trained uniformly in all aspects of translating the program designs and models into day-to-day activities. To ensure uniform implementation of the program model, staff members working at satellite locations receive advance guidance in the form of quality control indicators and self-assessment guides. These quality control indicators synchronized with monthly reporting systems and other observation instruments that are used to conduct random program audits. The Director of Programs conducts regular site visits to service sites along with GYAC Specialists to conduct on-going formative assessments of Corps operations.

Desired Areas for Growth (geographic, focus, activities, etc.)		Increased local presence in each community (New Orleans, Birmingham, and Atlanta). Operation REACH continues to establish its local presence in each community through the following: a. Establishing local offices and hiring local staff in each community. Operation REACH recently received $400,000 from the Kellogg Foundation to increase the GYAC's presence across the expansion communities in Alabama and Georgia. This funding will allow ORI to hire additional staff and build local capacity to focus primarily on member recruitment and support, and stakeholder development. Local staff will provide increased supervision and support for partners to conduct member recruitment and enrollment, while enhancing ORI's ability to conduct its own recruitment. Several additional outstanding funding proposals would provide additional resources to support these local offices.

	b. Building and strengthening local community relationships. Over the last year, the presence of GYAC members on the ground has provided the organization with the opportunity to deepen its local relationships. The organization has developed and cultivated an extensive list of contacts in the media, schools, non-profit organizations, universities, and funders to support the ongoing recruitment of members and support of the GYAC program. In March, 2009, Operation REACH convened a group of more than 30 funders and youth-serving non-profit organizations at the Greater Atlanta Community Foundation to strengthen GYAC support, including building the referral network for GYAC members. Similar convening are currently being planned in Birmingham and Mobile, AL. Additional outreach through media and universities is a key element of this year's annual plan for the Operation REACH Communications Department.
